Review: Monograph consists of two essays on production planning with reference to work schedule and operations on an annual and quarterly basis. First essay is a translation of an article on work plans in metallurgical plants written by a Russian expert, Ts'ao I-ti [Chinese approximation of a Russian name]; the second is a research report prepared by the research training class on work operations of the Ministry of Heavy Industry. This report deals with the adaptation and application of Soviet methods to the Chinese plants manufacturing electrical machines.
